Providence College Moves to Remote Learning After 80 Students Test Positive for COVID

September 18, 2020

NBC Boston

He said on-campus students are not allowed to leave campus, and off-campus students may not leave their apartments. All indoor and outdoor gatherings are banned and travel to bars, restaurants or neighborhood businesses are not allowed.

"Violations will result in immediate interim suspensions," Sicard said. He added that college staff, Providence police and private security will be monitoring houses in off-campus neighborhoods.

All students living off-campus who have tested positive are being asked to return home if they can. Otherwise, they will be relocated to space provided by the college.
