Cross-appointed Faculty & Librarians

A panel discussion on institutional inequality at the University of Toronto

Cross-appointed faculty and librarians are committed to innovative interdepartmental and transdisciplinary teaching and research at the University of Toronto. But uni-departmental administrative traditions often fail to gauge adequately and equitably the annual teaching, research and service contributions of cross-appointed colleagues. UTFA invites cross-appointed faculty and librarians to join us in an open and exploratory discussion of recurring administrative problems with joint appointments at the University of Toronto.
